HOW TO COOK KOREAN BBQ

Korean BBQ refers to the Korean method of grilling beef, pork, chicken, or other types of meat. Such dishes are prepared at the diner's table on gas grills that are built into the center of the table itself. Most diners enjoy doing their own grilling at the table.

Cooking time varies between meats. Thin cuts such as beef tongue, beef brisket only requires less than one minute on each side, and more thicker meats like beef sirloin, pork bellies require about 2~4 minutes per side. Intestines require 5~10 minutes on each side since it needs to be cooked thoroughly.

Once your meat is ready to be enjoyed you can dip it into one of our sauces and eat it. Sesame Sauce (mixture of sesame oil, rock salt, and black pepper) goes well with pork bellies, Brisket Sauce (sweet soy based sauce garnished with garlic and jalapenos) goes well with beef brisket and other beef meats. Another way to enjoy your meat is to wrap the meat with lettuce and add Bean Paste Sauce (blend of fermented soybean paste and spices), piece of garlic and eat it!

BANCHAN (SIDE DISHES)

Banchan refers to small dishes of food served along with cooked rice in Korean cuisine. The most famous banchan is kimchi.

Banchan are set in the middle of the table to be shared. At the center of the table is the secondary main course, such as galbi or bulgogi, and sometimes a shared pot of stew. While the main course of the meal is sticky rice. Bowls of cooked rice and soup are set individually. Banchan are served in small portions, meant to be finished at each meal. They can be replenished during the meal as they are finished.
